Anju D. Jessani was chosen to serve as a Muscular Dystrophy Association jailbird. On September 21, 2010, Hoboken police officers picked her up from her Divorce with Dignity Mediation Services office and took her to jail (i.e., 10th and Willow Bar & Grill), where other jailbirds were also under arrest. Fortunately, as her friends, relatives and colleagues had been notified about the need to raise bail, she was released after turning over their generous donations.
